

Rehabilitation following critical illness

NCEPOD are developing a study to look at rehabilitation following critical illness.

We are looking for patients and carers to take part in online focus groups.

What will be involved?

You will be involved in an informal discussion with others who have had experience of rehabilitation following critical illness.

We will use the information collected to help develop the study, and identify areas to look at in more detail. All information collected will be kept confidential and anonymous.

Who can get involved?

Adult patients (18 and older) who have had experience of rehabilitation care following a critical illness and carers can take part.
