

Recommendations

Only experienced endoscopists should treat patients with upper GI haemorrhage. Experience will vary by grade but competence should be assessed by the supervising consultant.

Optimising the patient's pre-endoscopy condition will reduce both morbidity and mortality. Early involvement of an anaesthetist/intensivist if necessary, will assist this.