

2. Method

Expert review

An independent group of experts comprising intensive care physicians, general physicians and a nurse reviewed the combined analysis of the data; both from the questionnaires and the extra information from the advisory groups. This group determined the key factors that are presented in this report.