

2. Aim of study and method

Method

Peer review of individual autopsy reports and information from organisational questionnaires were used to inform the study. The two components of the study are described in the following sections.